

Manual for the Trading Psychology Test

Welcome to the Trading Psychology Test, designed to help you discover your core trading personality and preferences. This guide will walk you through how to complete the test and interpret your results.

How to Complete the Test

Structure:

The test consists of 60 questions.

Each question presents multiple options, and you need to select the one option that best describes you.

Time Limit:

There is no time limit.

Take your time to reflect on each question and choose the answer that resonates most with your personality.

Objective:

The goal is to identify your natural tendencies and preferences in trading situations.

Be honest with yourself to get the most accurate results.

Understanding Your Results

At the end of the test, you will receive a detailed breakdown of your preferences. Here's how to interpret them:

Dominant Traits:

Your primary results will highlight the core characteristics that dominate your trading mindset.

These represent the aspects of your personality that most influence your decisions and strategies.

Secondary Traits:

While you may have a dominant type, you may also find elements of other preferences reflected in your results.

These secondary traits provide additional insight into less prominent, but still relevant, aspects of your personality.

How to Use the Results

Focus on Strengths:

Understand and build on your dominant traits. These are the foundation of your trading style and can help you leverage your natural strengths.

Explore Secondary Traits:

Identify any characteristics from secondary preferences that align with your behavior. These may provide additional tools for managing challenges in trading.

Actionable Insights:

Use the results to fine-tune your strategies, improve emotional control, and enhance decision-making under pressure.

By understanding both your dominant and secondary preferences, you can gain a deeper understanding of yourself and your trading mindset. This holistic approach allows you to maximize your potential and grow as a trader.

Take your time, reflect deeply, and enjoy discovering more about your trading personality!